The Qantas Socceroos will play off against the fifth-best South American nation in November for a berth at the 2006 FIFA World Cup in Germany following a hard-fought 2-1 win over the Solomon Islands in Honiara.

Australia won the final of the Oceania qualifying tournament with a 9-1 aggregate win over the Solomons following the 7-0 victory in Sydney on Saturday.

Yesterday's match was vastly different to Saturday's lopsided first leg encounter with the match played in hot and extremely humid conditions and Australia needing to rely on a 59th minute winner from Brett Emerton to claim the victory.

Australia, playing their 100th match against Oceania opposition, opened the scoring in the 17th minute through Melbourne Victory's in-form striker Archie Thompson who latched onto a Vince Grella pass to lift his shot over the advancing goalkeeper.

The Solomon Islands roared on by a noisy home crowd equalised in dramatic circumstances four minutes after the interval. Perth Glory's Henry Fa'Arodo scored from the penalty spot after Commis Menapi had his penalty saved by Qantas Socceroos goalkeeper Zeljko Kalac, only to see the referee order a retake on the advice of the linesman after Kalac was deemed to have moved off his line.

Kalac was required to make three saves from the initial penalty as a goalmouth scramble developed with Solomons midfielder George Lui sent off as he dived in recklessly on the Australian goalkeeper. Lucas Neill had originally conceded the penalty bringing down Fa'Arodo in the penalty area and receiving a yellow card.

The Australians however regained the lead ten minutes later with Emerton finishing from close range as he got on the end of a Jason Culina cross for what proved to be the winning goal.

The final round of FIFA World Cup qualifiers in South America will take place on October 12 (October 13 Australian time) with the draw to decide the order of the play-off matches to take place at the FIFA Congress this Saturday (Sunday Australian time) in Marrakesh, Morocco.

GREEN GULLY GETS READY FOR GRAND FINALE

Green Gully Cavaliers coach Ian Dobson and his players are on the edge of greatness.

They have battled their way through to the Vodafone Premier League grand final.

The never-say-die Cavaliers somehow managed to miraculously dodge a couple of bullets to pip South Melbourne 5-4 in a dramatic penalty shoot-out after scores were dead-locked at 0-0 at full-time and after extra-time in the major semi-

September 18.

The former National Soccer League clubs will clash in a blockbuster Greek derby preliminary final at the Olympic Village this Sunday.

"Dobbo" and his players are expected to be interested faces in what promises to be a sell-out crowd.

Captain Dean Fak paid tribute to the "unbelievable commitment" of his teammates after staving off the ate president Charles Farrugia shed tears of joy as he watched the players whoop it up after the win.

"(It's) brilliant. Magic. Unbelievable," he said.

"The players lived up to their reputations."

Farrugia is especially chuffed with his beloved Cavs through to the grand final in arguably the strongest Premier League competition on record.

"It's monumental. The giants of final at Green Gully Reserve last Saturday.

The visitors had two opportunities to win but were unable to slot home the penalty kicks.

First-year goalkeeper Pasi Schwalger is being hailed as the hero of the win.

The Preston Lions recruit was mobbed by jubilant teammates out on the pitch after the victory.

Pumped-up midfielder Andy Vargas was quick to give Schwalger a bone-crunching hug.

A thrilled Dobson was full of praise for his players.

"They've done themselves proud. They've surpassed everything I thought we were capable of achieving," he said.

"There's a lot of good characters in this squad - strong characters."

The Cavs will play either Heidelberg United or South Melbourne in the grand final at Olympic Park on Sunday, one-time NSL glamour team.

"We played really, really well in the second half. We probably deserved to win in the 90 minutes," he said.

The star defender gave right full-back Rodrigo Vargas a big pat on the back for a scintillating game.

"He was probably B.O.G (best-on-ground). He epitomises what Green Gully is all about. He's got a lot of heart and his will for the battle is just unbelievable," he said.

Fak urged his teammates to remain focused and not get too carried away with booking a ticket to the biggest game of the season.

"Only half the battle has been won," he said.

"We know there's plenty of hard work to be done. We need to keep improving out on the park."

He is adamant the Cavs will be ready for whoever they play.

"We're just raring to go. Our minds are already switched on," he said.

The Maltese-backed club's passion-Victorian soccer are playing in the Premier League for the first time since 1977. We welcomed in four National Soccer League clubs (South Melbourne, Melbourne Knights, Heidelberg United and Sunshine George Cross) this season."

Farrugia is adamant the Cavaliers are determined to hit back from the pain of their inexplicable 'straight sets' exit in last year's finals series. "It's unfinished business, that's for sure."

GULLY GUNS INTO THE GRAND FINAL

Green Gully Cavaliers 0 South Melbourne 0

Green Gully wins 5-4 on penalties

The Green Gully Cavaliers has earned a place in the Victorian Premier League Grand Final with a hard fought 5-4 penalty shoot out win over South Melbourne at Green Gully Reserve. The game came down to penalties after neither side was able to break the deadlock in both normal and extra time.

Both sides started the match cautiously with neither side able to gain an early advantage, however, South Melbourne seemed the more dangerous of the two sides with the attacking duo of Fernando De Moraes and Robbie Cattanauch causing the Gully defence problems with their sublime ball handling ability. However it was Green Gully who created the game's first scoring opportunity when Brandon Vassallo volleyed a shot over the bar from a cross, played by Nick Tsaltas in a great effort. Soon after Gully had another chance, when Andy Vargas played a great ball out wide to Tsaltas who broke the offside trap before moving in on goal but his resulting shot was weak and caused South 'keeper Dean Anastasiadis little problems.

South Melbourne was still however looking the more threatening in the final third of the park and they soon had a chance to show for it when Vaughan Coveny played a ball left to De Moraes whose shot from the edge of the area forced a great finger tip save from Pasi Schwalger. Moments later, De Moraes again went close when he received a ball outside the area before unleashing a powerful shot that went painstakingly wide of the upright.

In the final stages of the first half, Green Gully began to mount pressure on South Melbourne but their defence proved too strong and they managed to thwart any Gully attacks.

Green Gully started the second half the stronger of the two sides, and they were unlucky not to go ahead, when a cross from the right found Andy Vargas unmarked at the back post but he was only able to head the ball over the crossbar. Moments later, South almost struck on the counter attack when a ball was played to Kosta Salapasis who ran across the park before unleashing a great strike that went just shy of the upright.

Momentum soon swung the way of South Melbourne and they began to press forwards in the latter stages of the second half. Vaughn Coveny almost snatched victory for South when he received a long ball in the area, before turning the defender and shooting just across the face of the goal.

These two sides had the best defensive records of all teams in the VPL, so it was no surprise to see the match go into extra time at nil all.

As extra time began, both teams started in a cautious manner but soon Green Gully came into their own placing the South defence under significant pressure. South were fortunate to still be on level terms, when in the 5th minute of extra time, Vassallo dribbled round the 'keeper before being forced to the by-line. He then played a cross inside to Peter Hader, only to find his first time shot blocked from an open goal.

The second period of extra time, saw players showing obvious effects of fatigue with players seemingly consigned to the penalty shootout, however Gully had one more chance when Hader played a low ball into the box to captain Dean Fak who shot wide.

After 110 minutes of enthralling football, the first team to take their place in the Grand Final would be decided by the dreaded penalty shootout leaving the losing side to rightly feel aggrieved at the final result. After three penalties each the score was tied at 2-2. With the match in the balance, Anastasiadis denied Andy Vargas leaving Salapasis to hand South the advantage. Dragi Nasteovski coolly kept Gully in the game leaving Cattanauch to send South to the final, but he skied his penalty giving Gully a lifeline. Both Arthur Tsonis and Zoran Markovski scored leaving Gully 'keeper Pasi Schwalger to take the plate. He drilled the penalty wide handing South another chance to end the game, but Anastasiadis put his penalty over the crossbar. Roddy Vargas slotted his penalty home leaving all the pressure on the shoulders of Sam De Vito who put his penalty wide sending Gully into the Grand Final.

South Melbourne faces archrival Heidelberg United in the Preliminary Final while Gully earned a weeks rest and a place in the final.

By Simon Chiarelli

FROM THE DUGOUT...

Ian Dobson
Coach, Green Gully Cavaliers:

"I think it was typically a very tight game as it has been in the previous two encounters this year. Both teams were defensively very strong and there was limited opportunities. I felt it was an even first half and we had the better of possession in the second half. We could've got the vital goal with a couple of half chances, but it didn't happen and it all came down to the excitement of a penalty shoot-out. We've achieved more than I expected and now can look forward to being there in two weeks time. Hopefully we'll be able to give a good account of ourselves because the desire is burning very strongly amongst this group of players."

John Anastasiadis
Coach, South Melbourne:

"It was a fairly even game. We tried to break them down but unfortunately it had to go to penalties. When it goes to penalties it's always a lottery and unfortunately for us they were lucky for the second time and that's just the way football goes. We've just got to pick ourselves up and get ready for the big match against Heidelberg. We'll see how we go."

Green Gully and South Melbourne went head to head in this important clash to win a place in this year's Grand Final. For the second week in a row Gully were victorious after enduring a pulsating penalty shootout.

VODAFONE VPL FINALS SERIES

SUPER SUB MARINOS SINKS CANNONS IN 20 MIN SPELL

Heidelberg United 3 Oakleigh Cannons 1

Heidelberg United eliminated Oakleigh Cannons with a 3-1 in wet conditions at Olympic Village on Saturday night. Two second half strikes by super-sub Nick Marinos were enough to power Heidelberg over Oakleigh and into a preliminary final clash against old rivals South Melbourne.

Heidelberg jumped out of the blocks and placed immediate pressure on the Cannons. An early chance fell to Tony Ouliaris who headed a corner over the goal when unmarked at the back post. Oakleigh struggled to keep up with the early tempo set by the Warriors, allowing the home side to dictate the play.

Heidelberg took the lead in the 17th minute through Bill Damianos, when a cross by captain Eric Vassiliadis bounced and was met powerfully by Damianos who headed the ball into the back of the net. Minutes later, another chance fell to Damianos when the ball rebounded out of the penalty area and landed at his feet before he turned and shot just wide of the upright.

The Cannons soon equalised against the run of play in the 26th minute, when Heidelberg 'keeper Lou Acevski spilled a high ball before trying to recover, taking down Peter Kakos in the process. Juan Nilo took the resulting penalty which was saved by Acevski, but Nilo pounced on the rebound to equalise for Oakleigh.

Heidelberg would have Acevski to thank moments later when a free-kick headed goal-wards by George Goutzioulis forcing a great save from Acevski. Again the rebound fell to Nilo whose resulting shot was saved once more by the 'keeper.

The equaliser by Nilo turned the game into a free flowing affair with end-to-end football the result. At one end a Brendan Beni shot hit the side netting while at the other Juan Nilo again caused problems and found himself unmarked in the box only to fire high and wide of the mark.

Oakleigh began the second stanza the stronger of the two sides, placing early pressure on the Warriors but could not translate their dominance into a goal. Heidelberg slowly started to work themselves back into the match and were desperately unlucky not to take the lead when a Vassiliadis pile driver cannoned off the post before landing at the feet of Veton Korcarevski who shot wide of an open goal.

Heidelberg coach Phil Stubbins decided to inject Nick Marinos into the attack in order to provide a more efficient attacking presence. This proved to be an inspired decision when, in the 74th minute, a Korcarevski cross found Marinos who headed the ball home in a goal mouth scramble to hand Heidelberg the lead.

Oakleigh were left with no option but to push all resources forward in an attempt to equalise with limited time remaining. This left the Cannons wanting at the back and deep into injury time Nick Marinos sealed Oakleigh's fate when he headed home a cross by Yusuf Yusuf to hand Heidelberg a Preliminary final meeting with their old arch-enemy South Melbourne.

By Simon Chiarelli

FROM THE DUGOUT...

Phil Stubbins
Coach, Heidelberg United:

"A very satisfying result playing against possibly the form team of the league at the time. They had a couple of setbacks in their side but we had to contend with setbacks over the course of the last seven weeks so it was nothing new to us. I thought we played it quite well. With the introduction of a different system and Nick Marinos being a part of that was the catalyst for us to be able to go on and really penetrate. It's a credit to our lads who performed the way they did and it's a massive scalp coming away with a 3-1 margin against Oakleigh Cannons. All in all it was a good day for us."

Stuart Munro
Coach, Oakleigh Cannons:

"Obviously disappointed. It was difficult going into the game without a few key personnel. We tried to put on a brave face and did quite well until 15 minutes to go when they scored their second goal. We had one or two opportunities as well but on the night I don't think we were quite good enough and full credit to Heidelberg."

Heidelberg United's Nick Marinos came off the bench for the 'Bergers to score two match winning goals against Oakleigh Cannons, knocking his former club out of the 2005 Vodafone Finals Series in the process.

FIRST SEMI FINAL

WHAT A CHAMPION! WHAT AN INSPIRATION!

Passionate Albanian Mehmet Durakovic deserves his ranking as one of the greats of Australian soccer.

The 39-year-old's star-studded career was highlighted by a staggering 64 appearances for the Socceroos between 1990 and 2002.

National coaches like Frank Arok and Eddie Thomson were delighted to have the ultra-reliable sweeper patrolling the back half.

They loved the passion and fierce determination he displayed in Australia's famous green and gold colours out on the pitch.

He played every game like his life depended on it. He gave his all.

Durakovic insists he was living a dream every time he strutted his stuff for the Socceroos.

"Representing your country is the ultimate. Pulling on the green and gold in my first international is something I've never forget - we played Czechoslovakia in a friendly at Olympic Park (in Melbourne). Frank Arok was coach. I had goosebumps all over. It's something everybody dreams about doing. I was so inspired (to play well)," he recalled.

His close-checking tactics were a nightmare for opponents.

Many struggled to have an influence on proceedings, including one of best players of all time - Argentina's exquisitely-skilled master Diego Maradona.

Durakovic fondly recalls marking the great man in a World Cup qualifier in Buenos Aires in 1993.

"It was an unbelievable experience. It was an honour - something you can tell your kids about," he said.

"He was a really nice guy. He came up to me (at the start of the game) and said hi and asked how I was feeling. I sort of knew I'd get the job on him. I'd marked (England champ) Gary Lineker. I was one of those guys who was a marker."

So how does Durakovic rate his performance all these years on.

"Not too bad - he didn't score which was the most important thing. I thought I did OK," he said.

Durakovic played alongside a who's who of Australian superstars, including future international exports Harry Kewell and Mark Viduka with the Socceroos.

He remembers a then 17-year-old Kewell dazzling in a game against Chile in Chile.

"We didn't know who he was (to start with). But that changed pretty quickly as you guessed," he said with a chuckle.

"He was man of the match. He had the touch even at his age, you could tell straight away. He was brilliant."

Durakovic's durability was a hallmark of his career.

He represented his country over a remarkable 12-year stretch and is the second oldest player - at age 36 years and 274 days - to play for the Socceroos.

But Durakovic holds the record for being the oldest player to score a goal for the Socceroos!

He was 36 years and 272 days old when he found the back of the net in a 2-1 win over Tahiti in July 2002.

Another unforgettable chapter in Durakovic's soccer odyssey was playing as a professional in four successive championships for Selangor in the Malaysian first division from 1995 to 1998.

"It was amazing. Soccer over there is unbelievable. We were playing in front of crowds of 40,000 and 50,000. It was a brilliant experience to be a full-time professional. You don't become a multi-millionaire, though. (My contract) was enough to pay the mortgage off with a little bit left over for a few bills. But you'd get much more than you'd make in Australia."

Durakovic initially put his name up in lights on the Australian soccer scene in the now defunct National Soccer League after Brunswick Juventus offered him a contract after being impressed with his sudden, bang, you're in the starting 11 in the grand final."

Durakovic was thrilled to play alongside Scottish-born defender Brian Brown.

"He was brilliant," he said.

He spent four seasons with Juventus before off-field trouble started brewing at the Italian-backed club and he was loaned to Footscray JUST for the 1989 season.

He played there for one season before being signed by glamour side South Melbourne Hellas for the 1989-90 season.

"I suppose they were keeping an eye on form for Port Melbourne in Victoria's top competition.

He was an instant hit and played a valuable role in the right back position in the side's stunning win over hot favourites Sydney City over two legs in the NSL grand final in his debut season.

Juventus defeated Preston 2-1 in the Southern Division grand final to force a showdown with Sydney City who'd beaten Marconi 2-0 in the Northern Division grand final.

They stunned City 1-0 at St George Stadium in the first leg and held their nerve to win 1-0 at Olympic Park in the second.

Striker Fab Incantulupo scored both goals in a match-winning display.

"It was amazing - something you dream about," he said.

"Your first year in the NSL and all of a me," he said.

"They were a brilliant club. (I've got) some great memories that I'll never forget."

Top of the list is the Greek-backed side's famous win over crosstown rivals the Melbourne Knights following a penalty shoot-out in the 1990-91 grand final in front of a bumper crowd of 23,318 at Olympic Park.

It was a cracker of a game with South Melbourne Hellas equalising in the 88th minute through Joe Palatsides to shell-shock the North Sunshine-based Knights and force the game into extra-time.

But the deadlock in scores remained.

South Melbourne Hellas were crowned champions after winning the penalty shoot-out 5-4 amid frenzied scenes.

Durakovic was proud to play alongside the likes of Mike Petersen, Steve Blair, Ange Postecoglou, Joe Palatsides, Peter Tsolakis, Paul Trimboli, Kimon Taliadoros and Bruce MacLaren in the big game.

He stayed six seasons before heading to Malaysia.

Durakovic returned to the NSL with Sydney Olympic for the 1998-99 season. He then played with the Morwell Falcons in 1999-2000 before rejoining South Melbourne in 2000-2001.

He continued to make life difficult for opponents for another four seasons before announcing his retirement after suffering a calf injury in what ultimately would be the last season of the NSL (in 2003-2004).

His received a massive thrill when he was selected in South Melbourne's prestigious Team of the Century.

"It capped everything off," he said.

Durakovic was besieged by Premier League and State League clubs desperate for him to play on, but he politely declined all requests.

"I thought enough's enough. It was time to spend a lot more time with my family," he said.

The modest champ hang up his boots with a big smile plastered across his face. He is thrilled to have achieved so much throughout his career.

"I was determined to get the best out of myself," he said.

"I always worked hard (at my game). I'd stay back after training and train and train. It paid off."

Durakovic hopes he's remembered as "fair and hard and determined".

He remembers falling in love with the world game while attending Port Melbourne Primary School.

"I just loved playing with friends, just kicking the ball around," he said.

"I loved the enjoyment of scoring goals in games with my friends at school."

It wasn't long before Durakovic was playing with the Port Melbourne U9s.

Durakovic emigrated to Australia with his parents Harry and Helen as a four-year-old after being born in Montenegro in the former Yugoslavia.

The family settled in Yarraville before shifting to Port Melbourne.

Durakovic stills lives in the trendy bay-side suburb with wife Zum, daughters Jasmina, 13, and Adriana, 8, and baby son Emin.

He combines family life with some soccer coaching.

Durakovic is contemplating launching his own soccer academy next year.

"I'd like to do that, but I want to do it properly," he said.

His advice to budding soccer stars is simple.

"(I'd tell them) just to enjoy themselves - to go out and have a good time," he said.

"Train as hard as you can and enjoy the game. It's so important for children to have fun at what they're doing. Soccer should be fun for everyone."

FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT FOR PRESTON

These boys were Champions in 2004, and have repeated their form this year by dominating the league in 2005, winning the Championship again.

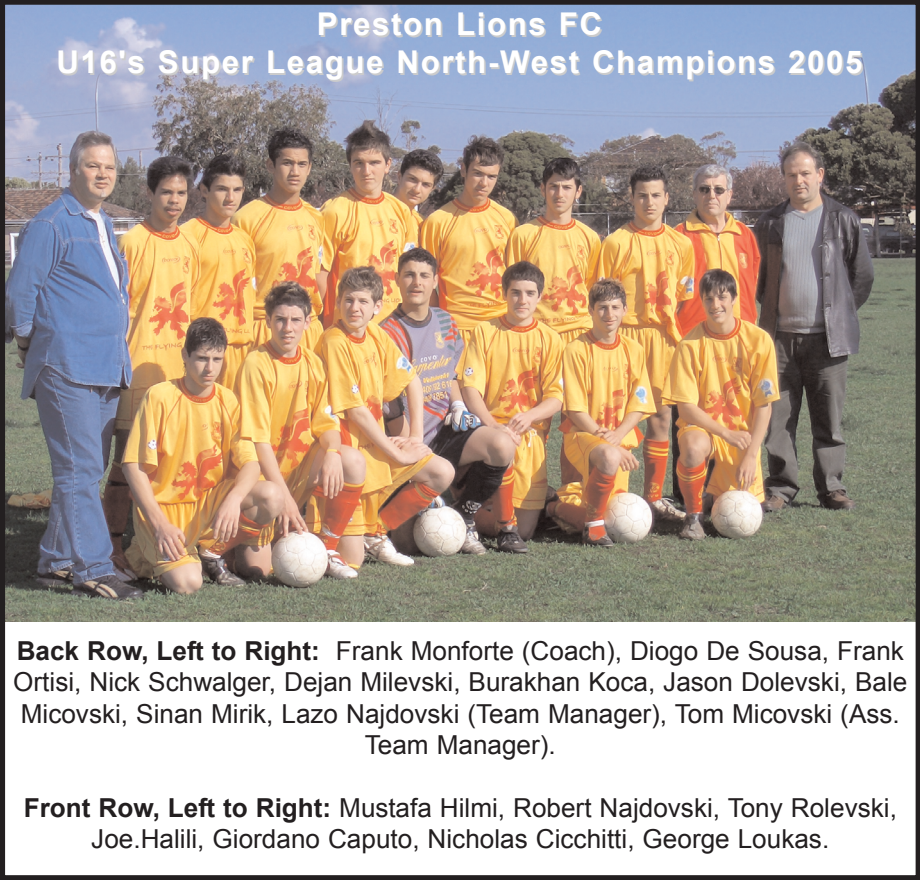

Under the guidance of the Coach Frank Monforte, Team Manager Lazo Najdovski and Assistance Team Manager Tom Micovski, the team lost only 2 games this season and once again beat Whittlesea Stallions, the last game of the Season, 2 1 to finish 7 points clear on top.

The Coach and Team Managers would like to congratulate the boys on their performance and dedication during the year. The Boys are well conditioned and disciplined to continue in soccer. There is talent in this team, if it is recognised and nurtured.

Frank Monforte took over this team in 2002 as the U13's Super League, at the time; the team was 3rd last on the Ladder, but finished 3rd from the top, losing only one game for the season.

2003 - U14's Super League, with the arrival of some new boys at the beginning the season and losing 3 boys, which went to Macedonia towards the end of the season, we finished the Season 3rd from the top, again.

2004 U15's Super League, once again some new players at the beginning of season: We won the Championship 12 points clear of 2nd, undefeated with only one draw during the whole season.

AFTER SEASON TRIP TO SYDNEY
Now that the 2005 season is finished, the boys will be going Sydney for a fun weekend. During their stay; they will be playing friendly games with two Sydney teams.

Message from your Coach and Team Managers:
"Good Luck Boys and keep playing good Soccer."

BOO'S WORLD

A Satirical Look at the World of Football According to Mark Boric

There were many highlights in Australia's 7-0 win over the Solomon Islands. Most vitally was the fact that the Socceroos managed not to concede a crucial away goal. Mark Viduka's bicycle kick goal was special, as were the goals of Jason Culina and Archie Thompson

Another highlight was the rain, as well as the quarter of capacity crowd. Just a few things to throw back at smug Sydney folk the next time major internationals are being scheduled. Don't let them tell you their weather is any better than ours, it is all a conspiracy.

Despite the small crowd at Aussie Stadium (formerly Sydney Football Stadium), the ground managed to provide a good atmosphere. This was mainly due to the Green and Gold Army in Bay 23, who kept up a vocal presence all night. Prior to kick-off a giant Australian shirt covered their allocated seating area. At various times they persuaded various substitutes in the act of warming up to come over to the fence for handshakes

The newspapers will have fun with Guus Hiddink's name. NO GUUS if we qualify for the World Cup, perhaps, and YOU GUUS! if and photos. It was pleasing to see Archie Thompson run over and acknowledge them after the game.

Biggest cheers of the night seemed to be reserved for Mark

Schwarzer in the Australian goal touched the ball with either hand or foot. Not sure if it was because he is a local or ironical cheering at him being called into action. Just possibly the latter.

Not quite double figures, but I suppose 7-0 will do for a World Cup Qualifier to be declared this column's Thumping of the Week. Thumping of the Week began with obscure junior boys and girls teams before rising through the State Leagues and now reaching full International status. The A League was by-passed, but having seen the New Zealand Knights it won't be for long.

Some would have marked down Scotland v Italy as a potential World Cup Thumping of the Week, but it ended a draw. Is this the same Scotland that were threatening San Marino-levels of mediocrity not long ago? It really is a funny old game.

STATE LEAGUE ONE DETAILS

ROUND TWENTY ONE WRAP

The long Division One season reaches its climax this weekend with the final round of matches this Sunday. The champions have been crowned in Kingston City and the runners up who have also secured promotion to the Premier League have been decided in Richmond.

At the wrong end of the table the bottom two in second last placed Westvale Olympic and last placed Knox City will be preparing for life in the respective Division 2 leagues. Westvale in North West and Knox in South East.

There is however one matter still to be decided and that is who will occupy third bottom and the dreaded playoff spot. The situation is as follows: Port Melbourne have occupied the third bottom spot for the majority of the season and are on 20 points while just above them are Western Suburbs on 22 points. A loss by Port Melbourne away to Kingston City and all other results by Western Suburbs become irrelevant. A win by Port Melbourne and a loss by Western Suburbs who travel to Paisley Park to take on Altona East will see them in the playoff spot.

A preview of all the games follows

Knox City v Northcote City

Knox have been woeful this season and after their relegation from the VPL last season one would have thought that they would have given more of a fight because they have a capable squad and a few decent players in their own right. Let's hope they can arrest their slide next season in Division 2SE and either claw their way back to Division One. Northcote City have been one of the disappointments of the Division One season for me. Last season they only missed out by the narrowest margins from catching second placed Sunshine Georgies and sneaking into the Premier League. This year they sit fifth and will finish somewhere between fifth and sixth depending on results. I would have thought they would have been a little higher up.

I predict this game will be won comfortably by Northcote City.

Kingston City v Port Melbourne

A game that means more to the Suburbs should be happy to finish above the three relegation/playoff spots because visitors than it does to the hosts although Kingston will not want to finish the season on a losing note. Kingston have been all conquering this season, dropping just eleven points to date. Port Melbourne have flattered to deceive this season, they have some talent in their squad and have shown a bit of improvement in the second half of the season but their early form has been what's landed them where they are.

I predict Kingston to win narrowly and condemn Port Melbourne to the Russian Roulette that is the promotion playoff.

Altona East v Western Suburbs

Suburbs make the short trip to Paisley Park to take on what has been one of the teams of Division One this season in Altona East. East play a fast attacking brand of soccer and of the way they started the season. I thought they were in for a long long season but to their credit they have grafted out the odd result and managed to scrape enough points to survive. Some shrewd rebuilding is required for them to avoid being in the lower half again next season.

Altona East easily for me in this one.

North Coburg v Dandenong Thunder

North Coburg has to be applauded, the lads down there at Reddish Reserve always give 110% and have the talent sprinkled amongst their squad to trouble most teams. Often not talked about, you look at the ladder and the worst they can finish is 4th. Maybe they need to take that next step as a club and a team to make that final leap into the top couple of spots.

Dandenong Thunder have been pretty poor this season and no have the talent to unhinge any side.

doubt they will be very very disappointed with their efforts in 2005. George Andrews Reserve up there in Dandenong has in past years been an intimidating ground to visit and they have made it a fortress against opposing teams. This season however it wasn't so fortress like and this will need to improve in 2006.

I can see North Coburg winning this by the odd goal

Richmond v Brunswick City

Richmond will consider this season a success given that they have achieved promotion to the VPL and good on them. Good old Boo aka Mark Boric (whose insights can be seen elsewhere in this publication) and Helmut Kalitzki the President have worked tirelessly for years to develop Richmond into a team capable of achieving what they have achieved.

Brunswick City will have mixed feelings about 2005. They will have achieved their main aim which was to consolidate their position in the division following their promotion but I think they will be wondering what might have been after a very promising start to the season saw them in the mixer at the half way stage only to fall away a tad towards the end of the season.

I can see this one finishing in a score draw.

Langwarrin v Westvale

Langwarrin finally achieved what they had been trying to for years and got out of Division 2 and into Division 1. Since then they have consolidated their position and a mid table position first season in gives them a launching block for future seasons. We bid farewell to Westvale in terms of Division One football and wish them every success in attempting to gain promotion next season. Westvale gave 115% week in and week out with a squad that was terribly mismatched when compared to most. What these lads had was spirit, they received very few thumpings and in most games lost narrowly giving a good account of themselves.

I see this as a Langwarrin win in a closely contested game.

WOMENS PREMIER LEAGUE

FINALS SERIES WRAP

Cranbourne Comets claimed its place in the Vodafone WPL Grand Final with victory over Box Hill Inter, which will now face Keilor Park in next weekend's preliminary final. Keilor defeated Brimbank in its semi-final to keep its season alive.

Minor premier Cranbourne Comets has taken the most direct route possible to the Grand Final, enjoying a bye last weekend, and winning this week's semi final. Cranbourne opened the scoring in the 24th minute, but found its lead wiped out before half-time, when Box Hill replied four minutes before the interval.

Cranbourne scored the only goal of the second half, just after the hour mark, to secure a 2-1 victory and a safe passage to the Grand Final. Cranbourne now enjoys another week's rest, while whichever opponent it faces will have played three successive finals by the time the Grand Final comes around. The 2-1 result was Cranbourne's second over Box Hill for the year, the first coming in the opening round of the season.

Keilor Park demonstrated why it finished third on the ladder, defeating Brimbank 3-1 to keep its finals campaign alive and set up another meeting with Box Hill

A shot at goal blocked.
2nd Semi Final action between Cranbourne and Box Hill.

Inter. The two sides met last weekend in the qualifying final, where Inter enjoyed a comfortable 5-0 victory, but Keilor will hope to produce a better performance when the sides meet again.

Brimbank made the early running in the match, taking the lead in the 37th minute, a lead that it maintained until five minutes into the second period. The match remained all square at one apiece until the dying stages of the game, when two goals in the last eight minutes of the match secured the victory for Keilor Park. Although disappointed on the day, Brimbank can take heart from its performance in its first season in the WPL, having been promoted as the 2004 Division One champion. Keilor lives to fight another day, and faces a tough rematch against a Box Hill side that it has yet to score against in three meetings this season.

In Division 3 NW, Yarraville has comfortably claimed top spot and promotion to Division 2 NW, finishing the season twelve points ahead of its nearest rival and conceding just six goals for the year.

Monbulk finished the season at the top of Division 3 SE, five points clear of second-placed Sandringham. Mornington will make the drop to Division 4 after finishing bottom and registering a single point for the whole year.

Things are still very much in the balance in Division 4, with the league being decided on goal difference. Beaumaris currently tops the ladder with 45 points, with second-placed Ashburton on the same number of points. Six points behind, but with two games still to play is Southern Suburbs. Should Southern Suburbs win its two remaining games, it will overtake both Ashburton and Beaumaris and win promotion, as it has a superior goal difference to both teams.

BAYSIDE LEAGUE WRAP

Premier League: Chelsea Young Boys are the 2005 Bayside Soccer League Premier Champions. It has taken many months and in that time eighteen rounds of matches only for it to be decided on the very last match, and that was amazingly between the top two teams.

On a brilliant day of sunshine, Hampton Park United hosted the game and needed a win; Chelsea could do with a draw. After the full time whistle that included a sensational rocket of a goal by Chelsea that was cancelled out by a penalty goal to Hampton Park before the break, it was Chelsea Young Boys that clinch the title with a 1- 1 draw.

This marks Chelsea Young Boys third consecutive league title in only three seasons. They also won the 2003 Division 2 and 2004 Divisions 1 to win promotion in each of those seasons.

Hampton Park United was always playing catch-up throughout the season but could not find that extra goal on the day to win their second top division title.

In other results Westernport lost forth place when they could only manage a nil all draw to Knox City whilst Rosebud jumped up from sixth to forth after defeating Pines Condors 2 – 1 at Monetary Boulevard. Third placed Croydon Ranges also fought out a high scoring 4 – 3 win over Boronia Knights.

Premier Reserves: How close do you want to call it? Knox City has unofficially clinched the title on 41 points and a +47 goal difference with Croydon Ranges also on the same points and goal difference. Knox City at the moment has got the nod thanks to a +1 goals for over Croydon. Croydon Ranges though are certain that an early round encounter between Endeavour Sports and Croydon ended 10 – 1 in their favour and not the 7 – 1 that was reported as well as wanting the Bayside League to return their result against the Pine Condors back to a 7 - 3 win that was cancelled out due to non payment of fines by Condors that resulted in games finishing 3 - 0 walkovers after the due date of payment. It is hoped that the problem will be resolved at the Bayside League meeting tonight.

Division 1: Peninsula had already been confirmed champions of the league last weekend but Cerberus threw a spanner into the works as they sensationally defeated then second placed Brighton Old Boys 3 – 1 to move into second place. But that position is not guaranteed as Langwarrin also won on the day by defeating Baxter 2 – 1 to be one point adrift in third place. Both Langwarrin and Cerberus will both need to contest their postponed games to decide the outcome. Cerberus only needs a win over Montrose Rodpacs to clinch second position and a place in the Premier League. Langwarrin needs a win over Frankston Outlaws and hope that Cerberus gets no better than a draw.

Division 2: Incredibly another division that stills needs to be resolved. Peninsula B finished on top thanks to a far superior goal difference over Montrose Old Boys, but both teams have catch-up matches that will need to be contested to decide the outcome of this division, once and for all. Montrose Old Boys will need to contest their round 18 postponement against Mornington Glory whilst Peninsula B needs to gain a win over AC Millangy.

Charity Shield: Please make sure you can make the effort to support the James Verlander Memorial Charity Shield match this weekend at Boronia Knights venue when last seasons runners up Boronia Knights host last season Sands Hotel Cup winners in what should be a entertaining match. The Bayside Soccer League will also donate $1000 towards the day.

WORLD CUP QUALIFYIERS ROUND-UP

World Cup Qualifiers: Brazil have qualified for the 2006 World Cup, following an easy 5-0 victory over Chile. Uruguay meanwhile, defeated Colombia to move into fifth place.

Brazil - Chile 5-0

Only twelve minutes were needed in Brasilia, for Juan to open the score. Nine minutes later, Real Madrid signing Robinho doubled the lead, and before the match had reached the half hour mark, Adriano had netted another two.

The final goal, in stoppage time, also came from Adriano. Brazil now have thirty points from sixteen games, and are certain of qualification as the difference with fifth-placed Uruguay is too large to overcome.

Uruguay - Colombia 3-2

Uruguay reached that fifth position with a 3-2 home win over Colombia. Marcelo Zalayeta broke the deadlock with two minutes left to go in the first half, and also scored the second goal, six minutes after the break.

But Colombia fought their way back into the match. Goals from Elkin Soto and Juan-Pablo Angel in the 79th and 81st minutes balance the score, but Zalayeta had another surprise left, and scored the decisive goal, 3-2 in the 86th minute.

The top four spots in the South American zone earn their occupants a ticket for the World Cup, while the fifth-placed team will have to face the winner of the Oceanian zone in a play-off.

The Uruguayans now have 21 points, one more than Colombia and Chile. Venezuela follow with 18 points and still have a chance as well.

The United States booked their ticket to the World Cup 2006 finals on Saturday night as they notched a 2-0 win over bitter rivals Mexico at Crew Stadium.

United States - Mexico 2-0

After a rough first half that saw more hard fouls than goalscoring chances, USA goal-keeper Kasey Keller did well to stop a free kick which sent the match to half-time at 0-0.

The Americans came out the better side in the second half and got rewarded in the 53rd minute as Steve Ralston put into an open net for a 1-0 lead.

After Ramón Morales conceded a free kick on the right wing about 25 yards out, Eddie Lewis swung the ball into the center of the area where Oguchi Onyewu headed the ball against the post, but the rebound came to Ralston who tapped in with his head.

Five minutes later, the Americans struck again as captain Claudio Reyna's pass hit DaMarcus Beasley on a perfect diagonal run and the PSV winger hit a beautiful left-footed shot beyond Oswaldo Sánchez at the far post.

The berth in the finals in Germany will mark the fifth straight time the United States has qualified for the finals.

Panama - Costa Rica 1-3

Costa Rica sit alone in third place in CONCACAF qualifying after their comprehensive win in Panama on Saturday night.

Álvaro Saborio put Costa Rica in front on 44 minutes, giving the visitors a 1-0 lead at half-time in Panama City.

Walter Centeno's goal in the 51st minute gave Costa Rica some added insurance and the match was put out of reach when Ronald Gómez made it 3-0 about 20 minutes later. Jorge Luis Dely Valdés added a consolation late on for Panama.

Trinidad & Tobago - Guatemala 3-2

Leo Beenhakker's Trinidad side got back into contention for a play-off berth with a big win over Guatemala thanks to two late goals by Stern John.

Guillermo Ramírez gave Guatemala a shock lead just three minutes in when his free kick deflected off of a Trinidad player before going into the net.

Russell Latapy canceled the effort with a strike of his own just a few minutes into the second half only to see Guatemala retake the lead on the hour mark through Gonzalo Romero.

John then kicked it into gear and leveled the match at 2-2 with five minutes to play when he converted a pass from Latapy and ex-Manchester United star Dwight Yorke was the provider as Coventry City striker John put the Caribbean side in front with three minutes to play.

Serbia & Montenegro reconquered their European World Cup Qualifiers Group 7 lead, by beating Lithuania 2-0. Bosnia Herzegovina were too strong for Belgium.

Serbia & Montenegro - Lithuania 2-0

A victory was needed for Serbia & Montenegro to stay ahead of Spain, and reoccupy their top spot in the group. Mateja Kezman put his side in the lead after 18 minutes, and Sasa Ilc decided the clash in the 75th.

Despite being held to a draw in Georgia, Ukraine qualified for the World Cup as Turkey conceded a late equalizer from Denmark.

Georgia - Ukraine 1-1

For a long time, Ukraine did not seem to be needing any help from other teams, in order to qualify. After taking the lead through Ruslan Rotan in the 44th minute, the match seemed decided. However, Georgia's Georgi Gakhokidze levelled in stoppage time, and temporarily halted Ukraine's celebrations.

Turkey - Denmark 2-2

Turkey needed a victory to stay in the race for the top position in this group. After Denmark's goal through Claus Jensen in the 41st minute, the Turks turned things around through Olan Buruk (48th) and Tumer Metin (81st).

But Denmark's Soren Larsen managed to score an injury time equalizer, which means that the gap between Ukraine and Turkey is still seven points, with just two matches left.

Albania - Kazakhstan 2-1

Albania, who have already been eliminated, defeated Kazakhstan with goals from Florian Myrtaj and Erjon Bogdani. The Kazakh visitors got one back through Maxim Nizovtsev.

The Netherlands have extended their lead in Group 1 of the European World Cup Qualifiers, beating Armenia while the Czech Republic were shocked by an inspired Romanian team.

Romania - Czech Republic 2-0

Striker Adrian Mutu was without a doubt the most influential player in Constanta. After netting the opening goal in the 27th minute, he was also responsible for the second in the 58th, beautifully scoring with his heel, to give Romania a 2-0 lead.

The Czechs continued to attack but failed to score back. This defeat means that their difference with the Netherlands increases from one to four points.

Armenia - Netherlands 0-1

In a rather tame match, it took the Dutch until the 63rd minute to break the deadlock through Manchester United's Ruud van Nistelrooy. The striker turned around his defender and struck into the left corner. Armenia attempted to push for an equalizer, but failed to break through the opposing defense.

Andorra - Finland 0-0

Andorra added another point to their account by holding Finland to a scoreless draw in Andorra la Vella, and even leave the last position to surpass Armenia in the group standings.

Portugal and Russia continued their push for the automatic promotion from Group 3 with comfortable wins, while Estonia defeated Latvia 2-1.

Russia – Liechtenstein 2-0

Alexander Kerzhakov scored twice for Russia as they went level on points with Slovakia in Group 3. The first goal came just before the half hour mark and the second came in the 65th minute.

Estonia – Latvia 2-1

Estonia opened the scoring in this game early on, as Andres Oper had the ball in the back of the net after only 10 minutes. Maksim Smirnov doubled the home side's advantage in the 70th minute but the lead was clawed back in injury time as Juris Laizans grabbed a consolation for Latvia.

Estonia closed up the gap between themselves and Latvia as the 3 points gained put both sides on 14 points, and with 2 games left to play, there is still everything to play for.

Portugal – Luxembourg

Portugal eased past the minnows of Luxembourg by condemning them to their worst defeat so far in their World Cup qualification group. The last time the two sides met, Portugal won the match 4-0, this time round they ran out 6-0 winners.

It took 22 minutes for the first goal to come and it was Jorge Andrade that laid claim to it. Ricardo was soon after to get his name onto the scoresheet on the half hour mark. Pauleta then added his first contribution for the night in the 36th.

The second half was much like the first with more goals to come. Pauleta kicked the scoring off for the second half with his second goal of the night in the 56th minute. Sabrosa Simao was introduced into the game in the 62nd minute when he replaced Cristiano Ronaldo. He then went on to get the last two goals of the night in the 78th and 84th minutes.

With 3 games left for the top two teams, and 4 for Slovakia, nothing has been decided as yet and everything is still up for grabs. Russia lie only 5 points behind Portugal, with Slovakia 8 points behind with an extra game in hand.

Scotland – Italy 1-1

Scotland were heavy underdogs for this match despite having the home advantage. Kenny Miller's goal after just 13 minutes silenced the critics, and Scotland actually looked like getting a result from the game. Italy took off Christian Zaccardo and replaced him with Fabio Grosso at half time. The substitute went on to be the thorn in Scotland's side as he levelled the score in the 76th minute. The draw means Scotland stay in 5th place ahead of Moldova by two points.

YOUNG TALENT COMPETES FOR VICTORY

The very best young talent Victorian Football has to offer will be on show for the inaugural "Victory Cup". Young players from Under 11's to Under 15's will playoff on Sunday 11th September at Box Hill's Wembley Park. The event is supported by Melbourne Victory club and will have Victory players in attendance. It is a chance for these young champions of the future to showcase their skills in front of today's stars playing in Australia's new A league.

The event was the brainchild of Box Hill Inter JSC president Richard Mensink. Playoff events have usually involved the under 13's to under 16's, the superleague age groups. This time the under 11's and 12's have also been included. Mensink states "bringing these junior championship teams and talent together in such an event can only assist developing our players into stars of tomorrow". These young footballers usually go watch the stars of today, but on this occasion the stars are coming to watch them play.

Match day features include a "Victory Cup" trophy and gold and silver medallions for winning and running up teams in each age group. A Melbourne Victory kids pack will be awarded to the best player of each age group final. Also available at the event is an official match day program and professionally produced DVDs of each game.

Box Hill's Wembley Park, an outstanding suburban junior football facility, provides the ideal setting to host the Victory Cup. A $2 admission charge will put you in the running to win some magnificent prizes. Action commences with the under 11's at 9am, under 12's at 10:15am, 13's South Melbourne vs Green Gully at 11:30am, 14's Box Hill vs Brimbank at 12:45pm, and 15's Knox City vs Brimbank at 2:15pm.

HYUNDAI A-LEAGUE

No THOMPSON, No VICTORY!

The Melbourne public turn out in huge numbers on the terraces and all tickets were sold out over one and half hours before kick off which would have been meet with a massive sigh of relief for officials of the Victory. Four goals and a plenty of goalmouth action left the 17,960 already looking forward to the next home game against the Newcastle jets on 25th September.

The Victory got off to the dream start when a Richard Kitzbichler shot from 20 yards out flew into the glory net and was no more than the home side deserved, even the Glory coach former Liverpool great Steve McMahon admitted that his side was lucky to go in at half time on level terms. " On our first half performance we did not deserve to go in on level terms and they were the better team," he said.

Perth managed to get back on level terms after a goal-keeping blunder by Eugene Galekovic, a long ball from Scott Miller which seemed to be simply rolling safely into the keeper hands was dropped by the victory keeper and Adrian Caceres made the most of his chance and calmly slotted the ball past a hapless Victory Keeper. Melbourne Coach Ernie Merrick was not too disappointed with his side's performance despite going 2-1 down midway through the second half. " It was absolute cracking game, fantastic crowd, also it was great to see so many Victorians come out and support us," he said.

The second half brought even more goalmouth action with both sides looking to grab all three points. Steve McMahon's side had the better of the early chances and it seemed as though Brain Deane and Bobby Despotovski height and pace were starting to cause the usually composed Melbourne defence problems. It was not long before the visitors took a much-deserved lead, in the 56th minute Despotovski found himself clear in the Victory penalty box and coolly slotted home the Glory's second goal. Whilst he was celebrating his goal Despotovski made a poor gesture to the crowd, which this family crowd that had turned up to watch this great spectacle really did not wish to see.

The goal sent a hush around

Olympic park for the next few minutes and the visitors were unlucky not to go further in front when they had another good chance, which fell into the grateful hands of Galekovic in the Victory Goal.

In the 85th minute Carl Recchia was making an excellent run across the edge of the Glory Penalty box and just as he was about to shoot a clumsy challenged by experienced defender and former Melbourne Knights NSL player Ante Kovacevic gave referee Matthew Breeze had no alternative but to point straight to the spot. Victory Captain Kevin Muscat stepped up and put the spot kick away and sent the home fans into raptures.

The former Millwall player has been very impressed with the start the new league " the league speaks for itself, right from the job the FFA has done right through to the product which is the football on the ground," he said. "I have come here to give something back to soccer and hopefully carry on playing well myself," he said.

LES SCHEINFLUG TO VISIT WAVERLEY WANDERERS

We wish to invite you to our Presidents luncheon held at the club house on Saturday the 10th of September at 12 noon, for a 12.15pm start.

Special guest will be Mr. Les Scheinflug.

Mr. Scheinflug culminated a 30-year career when he became the first Australian coach to take a National Team to a World Final – the Australian Under-17s eventually losing 8-7 on penalties to Brazil in the Final of the FIFA Under-17 World Championship in New Zealand.

Today, Les is still very active in the football world, having held previous roles with Soccer Australia as Technical Director, National Teams & Elite Development, he was also honored by the Australian Government in year 2000, and was awarded an Australia Medal (AM) for services to soccer.

We welcome your company, together; we also wish to celebrate a possible league Championship title.

The first team kicks off at 3pm.

It will be a great day.

STATE LEAGUE 2 SE PREVIEW

The State League 2 South East season comes to a close this weekend and there is still something to play for at both ends of the table.

The battle for promotion has been between the same three teams for most of the season with Springvale White eagles being the front runner for most of that time with Cranbourne and Doncaster keeping them honest and making them earn the league championship which will surely come their way this weekend. They are 3 points ahead with plus 6 goal difference going into the last game at Doncaster. Cranbourne are a further 2 points in front of Doncaster and need to win at Clifton Hill to ensure that second promotion play off spot as Doncaster just may give White Eagles a beating. The resurgent Diamond Valley recently whipped Eagles 4-0 so it can be done.

The other end of the table sees Fitzroy already relegated with the second relegation spot between Stonnington and Morwell with all the money going on Morwell to survive as they host the inconsistent Dingley. Stonnington are away to a competent Chelsea side who look like finishing in fourth spot. "Stodge"ington look doomed!

The story of the season was the Football Federation Victoria decision to call the previously abandoned game between Fitzroy and Doncaster a draw. This game was quite rightly abandoned after 30 minutes of play when an official from Fitzroy violently threatened the referee, at the time the game was 0-0 with Fitzroy down to 10 men after a send off. The tribunal originally and incredulously decided the game should be replayed and Doncaster naturally appealed and yes (this is not a misprint) the tribunal then decided a draw should be recorded penalizing the innocent Doncaster. This is from a Federation who have stated that they will stamp out violence at our wonderful game, seems to me that being violent can actually bring its rewards going by this unjustifiable decision.

Finally this season repeated the past when most teams/coaches competing apparently decided that the way forward is to play with experienced players who have failed at a higher level or never been good enough to get there. These teams then have a mid-season or earlier realization that they are not going to get promoted but persist with a proven failed strategy of not planning for the future by not playing their youth who have prospects..... and so the mediocrity continues. Success comes to those who plan for it and there is no better time than NOW. Good luck to all this weekend.

succeroo a pom's home view

I would like to be able to make a personal report on the weekend's clash of my two home nations; Wales v England, but ESPN and FOX decided it was not the pick of the world-cup qualifiers and showed amongst others Portugal v Luxemburg.

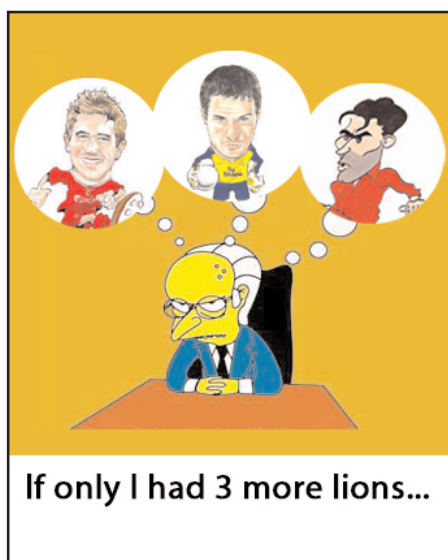

SBS's World Game did offer the briefest of highlights, where I would agree that the England performance was better than the 4-1 debacle in Denmark, but it never had a chance of surpassing the pre-match entertainment, so in hindsight maybe the broadcasters were right in their selection after all.

Sven-Goran Eriksson had warned us it might not be pretty. It was a far from ringing endorsement of the new 4-5-1 formation, and one moment of penetration from Joe Cole and Shaun Wright-Phillips could not disguise the fact that England appear to have mislaid their momentum. It is all very well Sven opting for the Chelsea system, as many of his players are using it each week, but the lack of a quality marksman like Drogba or Crespo up front, maybe a problem. However, Owen's return for the next match should solve that problem, or will Sven just return to the old 4-4-2 formation?

For Wales there were at last some encouraging signs for that a win will come soon, after a wait of more than two years in competitive games.

John Toshack, Wales Manager, is still rebuilding after Mark Hughes' moderately successful reign, which has seen important players become absent; such as Gary Speed's retirement, Robbie Savage's self-inflicted alienation as well as injury problems to Craig Bellamy.

There's a long-term plan that envisages Wales peaking in time for the 2008 European Championship.

It was good to see Ryan Giggs playing on the same pitch as England, although unfortunately not on the same side. It was considered and often debated how he could have solved the problem of England's left side. However, contrary to popular belief, 'Giggsy' never had the option of playing for England. He was born in Cardiff to Welsh parents, and only moved to the Manchester area when he was seven.

He did captain England schoolboys when he played at that level for Manchester United but, as that was due to residence. Plenty of Scots have also played for England schools. It just depends on where you are educated.

Unlike 'Giggsy', it turns out that Harry Kewell could have played for England, despite his Australian upbringing. Thanks to his father Rod being born in England, the fact that Harry himself was born in Sydney's western suburbs, where he also grew up, would not have hampered his English eligibility. Playing for the Socceroos against Iran in a World Cup qualifying play-off at the age of 17, however, did. Whether he would be good enough to grace England's midfield is another matter.

The most interesting eligible player that would be warmly welcomed into the England camp is Chelsea's goalkeeper Carlo Cudicini. He is believed to be the second best goalkeeper in the Premiership, behind his fellow team mate Peter Cech.

Article 18 of FIFA's Statutes state that: "Any player who is a naturalised citizen of a country in virtue of that country's laws shall be eligible to play for a national or representative team of that country." Having worked in England for 5 years, Carlo now qualifies to play for the national team.

Despite having been named in full Italy squads, Carlo has not played in a competitive match for Italy so in the case that he is granted British nationality he could theoretically be eligible for England or in fact Wales.

The only problem is Carlo is happy to be Italian.

THEN & NOW WITH SHAUN 'DOLLY' PARTON

Who did you play for in Australia?

I think I started seriously playing for Frankston City when they were in the old State League before moving on to Melbourne Knights. I then went on to play for Sunshine Georgies, Preston Lions and Morwell Falcons. I had more clubs than Arnold Palmer. All up I think I played something like 277 games in the old NSL.

When did you retire?

I think I retired in 1992 or 1993 at the age of 33 and thought I'd had enough, wasn't good enough any more and decided to pull up stumps.

How did you start playing soccer originally?

I think I ended up playing originally because I'm a Pom and my family emigrated out here when I was eight. I got here in 1970 and soccer was just the thing to do. People used to say "Here comes the wog ball again" and we just used to play in the streets. I suppose when you play a little bit of it and you're lucky enough to get paid a few dollars when you're pretty young, it keeps you interested and off the streets.

Did you have ambitions to play overseas?

Only when I was young and foolish at the age of about 18. You'd like to think you were good enough but I don't think I was. I think I got as much out of myself as I possibly could.

What was the highlight of your career?

In the National League I wasn't the most skillful player but I'm pretty sure people didn't like playing against me. I played in the Finals a couple of times with Sunshine Georgies and won the Dockerty Cup three times with three different teams, when the competition actually meant something. I've also got some good memories when we won Championships with Ringwood City and Langwarrin in the lower leagues. I actually stopped playing when I was 42.

Best player you've ever played with?

I've played with some great players over the years but I reckon John Markovski and Paul Trimboli had that something special when we were all at Sunshine.

Biggest influence on career?

Obviously my old man. Your parents have a big influence, driving you everywhere when you are a kid. But when I started playing at a higher level John Gardner was the biggest influence apart from my family.

Advice to youngsters?

Touch the ball as often as you can. That's the big difference I see between male and female soccer players. Good players touch the ball thousands of times a week. Always practicing juggling, kicking or just having a kick after school. I can understand there's not the incentive for girls to go out and practice as much as the boys. The boys usually think that if they get good enough they can make a living out of it whereas the girls, as much as they like training they're not going to go out and touch the ball seven nights a week like the good players do.

In your opinion, how can we improve the grass roots standard of the game?

The numbers are just swelling out of control but I think we need to start paying people to coach. I don't know if we have to find extra funding or if clubs have to dig deeper but most clubs just get dads or uncles to coach teams. Although they're enthusiastic, they just don't have the knowledge to pass on to the kids. The only way to entice people who've played the game before is to provide an incentive. We've got to improve the standard of coaching across the board. We've got the numbers there, it's just improving the quality of coaching which will in turn improve the quality of the playing.

What else are you up to these days?

I'm now coaching Sandringham City Womens team and we've just won the Division One Championship. As my daughters have been playing the last three of four years I got roped in to coaching them at different clubs and different levels. A guy by the name of Martin O'Connor had this idea about getting lots of young players together and entering them in to Division One. We've got five under 16's and four under 15's playing in the team this year. We've just had a celebratory drink and only three of them are allowed to legally drink. It's obviously a very young team, but they're obviously very talented kids and they've now earned the right to play in the Premier League next year. They've done very, very well and they're a good bunch of kids. I wouldn't be doing it if my daughters weren't playing but the plan at the moment is to stick around and do it all again next year. I'm a grumpy old coach and hopefully they can put up with me again.

What about outside of football?

I've been a school teacher in the Catholic system for 22 years. I work out at St Peter's in Cranbourne. I've got three daughters and a wife and just try and keep out of trouble.

Any aspirations to take your coaching further?

Over the last couple of years I've been coaching State girls teams. I've enjoyed my involvement with that and we even managed to make the semis at the National Championships. I think my only involvement will be on the female side of the game because I'm not playing any more and lost a bit of interest in the men's game. And whilst my daughters are having a kick that's my motivation to stay involved.

Good luck for next season Shaun and thanks for spending time with Goal! Weekly.
